Cubans Are Elated.

Havana, Dec. 23.—Via Key West, Dec. 23.—The few Cubans in this city who have been incredulous concerning the death of General Antonio Maceo are now convinced that he is really dead.

There is no longer any doubt that Zertucha treacherously led Macco into a trap which had been prepared for him in advance. New evidence is received daily that goes to prove the fact that there was treachery. Cirujeda, in a speech made to a party of insurgents, went so far as to compliment Dr. Zertucha.

Cubans are elated at the sentiment against the Spaniards aroused in the newspapers.

It is now generally acknowledged by the Spaniards that if the United States intervenes, it will result in the loss of the island of Cuba to Spain. The indignation of the Spaniards towards Weyler increases daily. The planters are almost ready to take up arms because they are not allowed to grind their sugar cane. It is believed that orders have been given the Spanish troops to burn the fields of the Americans and kill their cattle to prevent

There are many runors of severe encounters, but nothing is allowed to be printed, and this is taken to indicate that the Cubans are winning. It is said that the Cubans have completely couled Melguiz in the province of Ha-vana. The air is full of rumors, none of which can be confirmed.

Governor Disappoints Them.

Wheeling, W. Va., Dec. 23.—Gov-ernor-elect G. W. Atkinson disapemor-elect G. W. Atkinson disappointed hundreds of people by refusing to carry a pig to Fourth Street Methodist Episcopal church tonight, as previously agreed, where donations for the pool of the city are being received. In the casty press today the governor-cleer said that owing to the ice and snow on the streets he deemed the undertaking a dangerous one. The dressed pig was delivered at the church, however, at the expense of Mr. Atkinson, who assisted in carrying it from the cart to the church.

In default of $15,000 ball he was taken to the county jail, where he will spend the night in a cell in company, with a prisoner named Harris, who is charged with murder. Bleeker came here from Los Angeles, Cal., about five months ago. Mrs. Johnson, who owns considerable property in California, claims that she had given him, at various times, money aggregating $24,000 to pay off mortgages and settle other financial obligations in the coast state. Until recently, she says, she did not know that these obligations had not been discharged. It is now alleged that Lawver Bleeker lost the money intrusted to him by his mother-in-law in irrigation investments in the west. After causing the arrest of Bleeker. Chicago, Dec. 23.—Charges and counter-charges in connection with the management of the National Bank of Illinois were made today and engrossed the attention of the day's events surround; log the big national bank collapse.

The arrest of Bankers Dreyer and Berges, the discharge of the receiver of the Roseland bank, and the continuation of savings depositors' run on the Illinois Trust and Savings bank and the Hibernian Banking association were the principal developments. The public scare is tractically over, and a complete restoration of confidence seems to have been effected.

By arrangement of the police department nected. By arrangement of the police department By arrangement of the police department counsel for the defendants and justice of the peace. W. T. Hall, the accused private bankers, Edward S. Dreyer and Roberts, entered Justice Hall's private court room at 2 o'clock this afternoon. Detective Fay; who held the warrants which F. E. Kennedy, a saloonkeeper and depositor at Dreyer & Co's bank, had syorn to, announced that the men were under arrest. The charge in each case is that the banker received a deposit of $150 at the close of business last Saturday, knowing at the time that they were inselvent. The defendants were accomposited by Adolph Krous, their lawyer, and Charles H. Wacker of the Wacker & Birk Brewing company. The latter signed the bond of the bankers in the sum of $200 each for their appearance in Justice Hell's court January 2. Kennedy says he is acting for himself only, but his actions are regarded as premature and ill-devised by those who believe that the Dreyer & Co. failure could not be foreseen. In this connection Levi Mayer, counsel for the National Bank of Illinois and Dreyer & Berger, said to a reporter of the United Anosciated Presses today;

WAS AMAZING. WAS AMAZING.

"Dreyer & Co. cleared through the National Bank of Hilhofs. At the close of business Saturday afternoon there was not the slightest doubt emertained by the firm or even the shadow of a suggestion that they would not go on as urual Monday morning. Without a clearance bank they could not possibly open up. The end of the National Bank of Hilhofs was as sidden as it was amazing. Lirever & Co. did not know until Saturday that their clearing bank was in danget. They then took steps which resulted in the receivership. The creater last all their property. The great agitation at present existing has made some men precipitate and hasty in their criticism of their action and advice. When the excitement has subsided and the examiner has made a thorough investigation into the estate, and then only, will people be in a position to calmit pass judgment. The cruse for the National Bank of Illinois failure and its condition will no doubt in due time be pisced before the public. These Calumet Electric bonds, which all of a sudden have dwindled into so insignificant an asset lave for some years been coveted by some outsiders, and the interest on these bonds has always been promptly met."

RECEIVER DISCHARGED.

RECEIVER DISCHARGED. RECEIVER DISCHARGED.

The shortest bank receivership on record, 48 hours, was that of John H. Mchools, who was appointed receiver Monday effernoon for Frederick Wierseman, promittor of the Roseland Savings bank of Reseland, which cleared through the National Bank of Illinois. The receiver appeared before Judge Hancey this afterneon and reported that there were assets of $55,000 in cash and real estate and liabilities of $51,500. Sufficient money had been raised to carry on the business and the judge discharged the receiver. The bank will open its deors tomorrow morning.

Vice-President Hammond, who is charged with pulling the wool over the eyes of the defunct national bank would not talk for publication when seen today at his Evansion home, but a friend, speaking for him.

THE SCAPEGOAT

"W. A. Hammond is to be made the scapegoat of the failure of the bank. He is a broken man today, but he is not any more to blame for the amount of money loaned on Calumet Electric security than are the members of the finance committee of the bank and its directors. It was necessary for the parpose of a man connected with the South Chicago City radiway and an officeg of one of the biggest banks in Chicago, to depreciate the Calumet road stock, and to this end these two men accomplished the wreck of the National Bank of Illinois. Members of the finance committee and directors of the failed bank knew the full amount of the Calumet roan, and hoped to make individual fortunes on the success of the venture. They were given stock of the road and the purpose of the deal was to sell the property, and besides paying the bank loan, make a neat sum for the directors. There has been a sharp contest between the General Electric and South Chicago City Railway companies to set control of Calumet bonds. The latter road will be worth $5,000,000 in five years, and the outsiders who ruined the bank know it, but they wanted to buy the bonds chear."

W. R. Pare, a director of the bank, said:

"I never saw on the book of applicants

"I never saw on the book of applicants for loans kept at the bank for that purpose the name of the Calumet Electric company. The statements published resarding Mr. Hammond's connection with these queer transactions are all true. The auditing committee of the directory relied largely on the representation made by President Schweider and Mr. Hammond, and were deceived."

THE RUNS MADE.

The runs on the limois Trust and Savings and Hibernian banks continue today in lesser degree and when closing hour arrived there was a very small line. No vestige of the excitement is expected after Christmas day. The officers of the Illinois Trust were so confident that the run on their bank had come to an ignoble end, that after paying our under the $9-day notice rule for deposits of over $100 for an hour or so, decided to remove all restrictions and began paying in full to all depositors in line. At the Hibernian bank the notice was adhered to.

A staff of accountants, in charge of an expert, was put to work during the day at the Dreyer & Co. and Wasmansdorf and Heinemann bank and next week a report is expected which will give an intelligent idea of the condition of both houses.

The Annapolis, one of the six composite gunboats authorized by act of congress July 4, 1895, is the fourth of the new additions to be launched, the Vicksburg, Newport and Marietta having already slipped off the ways.

The Annapolis' length over all is 200 feet, and between persendiculars 168 feet. The mean draught is 12 feet, which experts say is light enough to permit her navigating shallow waters, such as are found on the China coast and the rivers of this country. Her engines will develop 800-horse power and her contract speed is 12 knots.

Her main battery consists of six 4-inch rapid-fire guns and the secondary battery four $0-pounders and two 1-pounder rapid-fire guns.

The express and baggage car were then uncoupled from the remainder of the train, and the robbers started eastward with the locomotive and two cars.

A red light was swung across the track, and when the train was brought to a standstill the men covered the engineer and fireman with guns. Conductor Nichola came forward with his lantern to see what the trouble was, when he, too, was covered with a gun. He was asked to pass over what funds he had, and he handed one of the men 34. Asked if it was company money, he replied, "No," and the bandit handed him back $2, saying he would make an even divide. Then he was marched back and compelled to cut the baggage and express cars loose from the train.

Horace Matthews, gateman on the train, and Rear Brakeman Rogers started down from the train to see what was the trouble, when they were ordered back under pain of being shot. The passengers were apprised of what the trouble was and the usual scenes followed. Some of the women became hysterical and hid their valuables, and after the robbers had pulled out with the engine and cars, some were unable to find where they had secreted them. After the decision that the residuary trust was illegal by the court of appeals, and after Mrs. Pelton, the testator's sister, has given most of her share to the founding of the library in this city, a contingent fund of $500,000 was created to carry out clauses 33 and 34 of the will with respect to the establishment of free libraries at New Lebanon and Yonkers, $100,000 having been left for each of these purposes.

Justice Beekman says that both of these trusts are open to the fatal objection that they violate the statute against perpetuities. These attempted dispositions are, therefore, void and the plaintiffs rest under no duty with respect to them.

(Special to The Herald.) Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 23.-A report Cheyenne, Wyo., Dec. 28.—A report was received here tonight from Buffalo, Wyo., stating that Colonel Jack" Flagg, the notorious leader of the cattle rustlers in the Wyoming rustler war of April, 1892, in which two alleged rustlers, Champion and Ray, were killed, is organizing a company of 100 cowboys to go to Cuba and fight with the insurgents against the Spantards. Flagg is editor of the People's Voice of Buffalo and was defeated at the recent election for the sheriff's offce of Johnson county. The work of organizing has been going on quietly for some time, and the start for the south will be made about the 10th of January. The cowboys agree to equip themselves and will be furnished horses in Texas, where a company of 100 Texas rangers is being formed and equipped for the campaign. The two companies will proceed carefully to Corpus Christi, where a schooner is in waiting, which has on board a number of Hotckiss guns and other field pieces. The schooner is now being provisioned and is being fitted out in first-class condition. Bryan Opens His Lecture Tour at Atlanta, Ga.

HE HAD A WARM RECEPTION

Public Opinion Can Crush Out All Abuses.

He Finds Good Results In the Recent Campaign, Because It Set the People to Thinking, a Habit Which He Believes They Will Keep Up-"We Are Laying the Foundation Now For Those Who Come After Us."

Atlanta, Ga., Dec. 31.-Hon. William J. Bryan opened his lecture four here to-night at the Grand Opera House before a large audience. All day long he held an almost continuous reception. Governor. Atkinson took him to the executive mansion in the morning, as his guest. At noon the Young Men's Democratic League tendered him a luncheon, and tonight the Fulton club entertained him. Among the speakers at the luncheon was ex-Secre-speakers at the luncheon was ex-Secretary Hoke Smith.

Mr. Bryan was introduced tonight by Hal T. Lewis, the Georgian who nominated him at Chicago. The late nominee's reception was enthusiastic, the audience cheering him loudly and long.

His subject was "The Ancient Landmarks," and he was extremely conservative. The address was a discussion of governmental questions.

"Geovernment" said he, "is what the people make it-good or bad as they distinct. They can remedy abuses if they seriously undertake to do so. Often they are indifferent. It has been said that the man who neglects to take part in controlling government is worse than the man who govern badly."

QUOTES JEFFERSON AND JACKSON. QUOTES JEFFERSON AND JACKSON,

QUOTES JEFFERSON AND JACKSON.

Mr. Bryan quoted liberally from Jefferson and Jackson. He touched on the leading issues of the recent campaign but in a non-partisan way. "The aimsaid he, "of the advocates of different money systems is to secure that one which is best for the greatest number of citizens. Men differ as to which system will accomplish that, but all agree that the system which will give a unit of value of the least possible fluctuation is the best. In the end the people of this country, and eventually the people of the world, will select that system under which the unit of value is most stable. In reaching that decision, selfishness is here to stay, but it is not wholly disasted the instinct of self-preservation.

DUTIES OF GOVE ENT.

DUTIES OF GOVE "Government should protect the weaker are inst the strong. A government substitutes law for force, and right tor might. Governments must restrain. Mr. Jefferson said that one of the most important duties of governments was to restrain one set of citizens from injuring the other."

the other."

Trusts were denounced as a means of doing an injury to our fellow citizens.

Mr. Bryan remarked that he did not think any party openly defended the trusts. They are permitted to exist because the people are indifferent. They could be abolished by legislation, or by public opinion. Newspapers form public opinion, but they are not to be expected to do it all. Every individual citizen position. The like of money by pollif-parties is the most pernicious influences nolitics, and the party is young indica-ch does not use money to advance ends. But it should be remembered it if the use of money is permitted, chizens will themselves be plundered recoup the expenditures.

UNIUST LEGISLATION. Unjust legislation was treated at some length. The speaker declared unjust maximum to be larceny. It is taking money from one man's pocket and putting it in the pocket of another man. The chief cause of discontent in this country is favoritism in one form or another under the government. This favoritism may be manifested by unjust taxation in different forms.

the government. This favoritism may be manifested by unjust transfor in different forms.

Alt. Bryan found good results in the recent campaign. It set the people to thinking, a habit which they will keep up. Jefferson said that public officials who are not watched are wolves. Mr. Bryan thinks that hereafter public officials will be more closely watched. Good givernment consists in jealousy, and not confidence. Overteenfidence encourages abuse of confidence.

In concluding the lecturer remarked, sixnificantly, that the Latin poets said we plant trees, the fruit of which we do not expect to pluck. "We are laying the foundation now for those who compatiter us. A part of the foundation work was gotten under way in the recent campaign. The superstructure will be built later."

Alt. Bryan will leave here tomorrow and he will go to Chicago, whence he will go to his home in Lincoln.

He has a series of lectures booked in Texas.

For that question I can refer you to my reports, in which an increase in the size of the army has been urged. The need for it is apparent. Of course, we don't want a great army like England or Germany, but I think we ought to have an army that would meet the requirements of a fast-growing population."
